OWL TEA HOUSE

NOVELTIES OF THE SEASON.

HIS FRIENDS DON'T KNOW HIM.

Brock & McComas Are Setting Up the Cigars on Account of the Fact.

When Dr. J. A. Best moved into Pendleton from Weston a few days ago, there adorned his upper lip a fringe of straw-colored moustache that had been there during his several years' residence in Oregon. Now the doctor's face is familiar to all other physicians and the druggists of Pendleton, and his word is as good as gold. But Best shaved off his moustache.

This morning he went to Brock & McComas drug store and purchased some articles for a patient. "I'll take this to him," said the doctor, "and if it doesn't suit I'll bring it back," and out he walked. The clerk murmured something and then asked the proprietor who the stranger was. The proprietor didn't know and a messenger was dispatched to a hotel where Best said he was staying to find out his name. Later the druggist purchased the cigars.

TEN-MILL SCHOOL LEVY.

Taxpayers Unanimously Vote the Amount Asked by the Board.

By the unanimous vote of all taxpayers present the tax of 10 mills was decided upon yesterday afternoon for the expenses of school maintenance to district 16 during the year 1905. Members of the school board, Chairman C. J. Smith presiding, and about 15 other taxpayers, met at the county court house yesterday afternoon.

The chairman stated that expenses of maintaining the Pendleton public school during the year had been unusually heavy and that one cent on every dollar of taxable property was required to meet the bills. Leon Cohen moved that the levy be that amount, and the vote was unanimous. No other business was transacted.

MONEY TALKS THIS WAY TO MOST PEOPLE—

bidding them a fond adieu. Why? Because they won't save it, or don't know how, or don't realize the advantages of saving. Suppose you ask us to explain the profit to you of putting away a few dollars here, the increment of 4 per cent interest and the results. Think and then act.

CHRISTMAS AT INDIAN SCHOOL

UMATILLA CHILDREN SHOW EXCELLENT TRAINING.

Exercises at Agency School Were Up to the Usual Standard of School Programs in the Same Grades—Many Numbers Deserve Especial Mention—Teachers and Assistants did Excellent Work in Training the Students for the Exercises.

The entertainment at the Umatilla Indian school during the Christmas holidays have been unusually interesting and were rendered with ability fully equal to white children of the same age and amount of training.

It would have been good for those who believe Indian children can not be taught a white man's education, to have listened to the Umatilla Indian children render their parts in the program.

Sammy Luban, aged 6, rendered the juvenile recitation, "Jack Horner," in a manner that elicited hearty applause, and brought forth an encore from the little fellow. A year ago this boy could scarcely speak a word of English.

"The Cradle Song," by Emma Johnson, aged nine, was rendered in a sweet voice which showed attention and training, and was heartily received.

"Helping Santa," by Dan Kash Kash, another small full-blood boy, was given in a delightful manner and brought forth an encore, also.

These numbers deserve especial mention, because they were above the usual standard of school recitations. In the same grades, and prove that training will bring the Indian child up to the required standard.

The beautiful tableaux given by a chorus of children was a unique and thrilling school suggestion, and was well rendered and heartily received.

The entire program was rendered in an able manner, all the children showing remarkable self-control, under the trying circumstances, and the teachers, who trained the children, assisted by Mrs. Wilson, wife of the principal teacher, J. W. Wilson, deserve the highest praise for their work. The Christmas tree will be given tonight.

Following is the complete program rendered:

Christmas carol, by the school; recitation, Dorothy Montanich, song, "Snowflakes," primary class; song, "Brown Sparrows," seven girls; song, "The Merry Winter Time," six boys and girls; recitation, "Helping Santa," Daniel Kash Kash; recitation, "Jack Horner," Sammy Luban; "Gifts for Mrs. Santa Claus' Stockings," recitation, "Sign of Christmas," Henderson Taatschamel; "Cradle Song," Emma Johnson; recitation, "The Quarrel," Julia Hart; Bible letters, "Christmas Joy," 12 little boys and girls; chorus, "Hear the Glad Bells," recitation, Star of Bethlehem, Gertrude Picard; tableaux, "Morning Joys," 12 girls.

Another encouraging feature of all the programs of the holiday season is that the parents of the children and many other Indian friends of the children attended the exercises, showing a marked increase in interest in the school and its work among the Indians.

Congregational Church.

Beginning with Sunday, January 1, there will be special evangelistic meetings every night at the Congregational church. Make these your meetings. If you are a follower of Christ come and help us reach others. If not a Christian, come and let us reason together on the great theme of salvation through Christ. These meetings are not to spread the peculiar doctrines of any sect, but to spread Christianity. Let all come and help in the good work. T. R. Egerton, pastor.

Funeral of Mrs. Hartnett.

The funeral of Mrs. James Hartnett who died at Pueblo, Col., will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30, at the Presbyterian church, Rev. J. Diven, officiating. A message from Mr. Hartnett, received from Pocatello this morning, says the train is four hours late and the remains will arrive here about 3 o'clock in the morning. Interment will take place in Olney cemetery.

Lost Sight of an Eye.

The 8-year-old daughter of George L. Ward, who resides three miles west of Echo, injured an eye six weeks ago, while untying her shoe lace with a table fork, and the injury proving serious, the child was brought to this city yesterday, when it was found that the sight of the eye had been destroyed. Dr. Miller is attending to the case.

New Saloon at Echo.

J. R. Means left for Echo this morning to make arrangements for opening a new saloon at that place on the first of the year. He has secured a building and will move down immediately after January 1. He will conduct the business alone.

Will Visit in Portland.

Mrs. A. P. Nash, accompanied by her father, B. F. Divney, will leave for Portland Thursday, where Mr. Divney will take a course of treatment for his eyesight. Mrs. Nash will visit friends in the metropolis for a few weeks.

Largest Lumber Output for 1904.

The Inman-Poulsen Lumber company, of Portland, cut 120,000,000 feet of lumber during the year 1904, the largest output by any single company in the world, for the year.

Increase Rates and Subscription.

The Lewiston Daily Tribune has increased its daily subscription rates from 75 to 85 cents per month by Mail and carrier, and the Walla Walla Statesman is preparing to increase its advertising rates nearly 100 per cent on the first of the year. Pendleton furnishes cheaper advertising and cheaper subscriptions than any other city in the Inland Empire, of its class. Increasing price of white paper shortening of the workday by the typographical union, and extending circulation are given as the causes for these increased prices in Walla Walla and Lewiston.

Frank Frazier Referee.

Barney Mullen and Perry Queenan, who are to box 19 rounds at the Frazier theater next Friday night, have decided upon Frank Frazier as referee. The contest will be under the auspices of the Pendleton Athletic club. Queenan is expected to arrive in Pendleton this afternoon from Vancouver, B. C. Mullen is training in this city.

Who Is the Humane Officer?

Several complaints have been brought to this office for publication during the last few days, concerning the abuse of teams on the slippery hills on Thompson and South Main streets. An effort will be made to bring the case before the humane officer for investigation.
